I love German class. The aspects I like most about this class are that we do our work according to us, the organization and feeling of independence, and the overall calm feeling of the classroom. The only thing I do not like about this class is the pronunciation project. It is difficult, but with enough practice, completion is possible.

Personal fulfillment motivated me to achieve Super Star status (all 6 projects completed on time). It meant more to me, than good grades, to complete the work for myself. It proves to me that I am capable.

My greatest challenge was completing the projects in a timely fashion. In order to complete all of the projects, I had to be organized and aware of time-management. That is the most important piece of advice I can give to other German students; “use your time wisely.” To manage my time well, I planned accordingly. The work plan helps tremendously.

Another trick I used was doing some of the projects at home, so that I would have time to do more school-based projects, such as grammar.

Staying on task is another important factor to becoming a German Super Star. I would really only talk when I had questions. Staying on task also means staying focused and thinking about becoming a Super Star helps motivate me.

5 tips that I would recommend: stay on task, remain focused, use time wisely, do your work at home, and only give your clip to Frau Bogard when you are completed with your project.
